

Jure Zovko - China Lectures (10 cities, 14 universities; 22 lectures)

1.0 Shaanxi Normal University, Xi'an (April 7 to 11)

- 1.1. Is there a global philosophy? (08/04/2024)
- 1.2. The lifeworld as a component of philosophical discourse (10/04/2024)
- 1.3. Why is hermeneutic philosophy important today? (11/04/2024)

2.0 Shanxi University, Taiyuan City (April 12th to 13th):

Is there a global philosophy?

3.0 Inner Mongolia University, Huhehaote (April 14th to 15th)

The life-world as a component of philosophical discourse.

4.0. Sichuan University, The Institute of Western Classical Philosophy Chengdu (April 16th-17th):

The significance of Plato for philosophical hermeneutics?

5.0 Wuhan University, School of Philosophy Wuhan (April 18th-21th):

- 5.1. Is there a global philosophy?
- 5.2 A network of competent judgements instead of a web of beliefs?

6.0 Huazhong University of Science and Technology, Wuhan (April 18th-21th):

Why is hermeneutic philosophy important today?

7.0 South China Normal University, Guangzhou (April 22th-23th)

Why is hermeneutic philosophy important today?

8.0 University of Technology Guangzhou (April 24th-25th):

Is there a global philosophy?

9.0 Sun Yatsen University, Zhuhai Campus (April 26th-27th)

Kant's concept of the philosophy of science (On the 300th anniversary of Kant's birth)

10. Zhejiang University, Hangzhou (April 28th-29th)

A network of competent judgements instead of a network of opinions?

11. Hangzhou City University, Hangzhou (April 30th to May 12th).

- (1) Is there a global philosophy?
- (2) The life-world as a component of philosophical discourse.
- (3) Why is hermeneutic philosophy important today?
- (4) Kant's concept of philosophy of science (on the 300th anniversary of Kant's birth)
- (5) Critique of physicalism from the perspective of Marx's theses on Feuerbach".
- (6) "The concept of education in Hegel and Marx"

12. East China Normal University, Shanghai (May 13th-14th)

The life-world as a component of philosophical discourse.

13. Tsinghua University, Beijing (May 15th-17th):

A network of competent judgements instead of a network of opinions?

14. Beijing Normal University, Beijing (May 15th-17th):

Why is hermeneutic philosophy important today?

Leave China from Beijing on May 18